

She's Right

She thinks that I'm here all alone
With nothin' else to do but come up with a sad song
Writin' how I miss her endlessly
That's alright if that's what she wants to believe

I know she's tellin' all her friends
She doesn't think me and my poor heart will ever mend
She says that I still walk the floor
Ever since that lonely day she walked out the door

(chorus)

She thinks that I just can't go on livin'
Without her by my side
My world has stopped spinnin'
If she thinks I cry each night since she's left
She's right

I should be over her I know
But there's still a part of me refusin' to let go
I can't pretend that I'm alright
I know she'll see right through this lonely man's disguise

(repeat chorus)

*Written by Frankie Moreno
©2010 Luccivanni Publishing – BMI
Completed in Las Vegas, Nevada*