Why Is The Whiskey Always Gone

I loved a girl What was her name? I don't recall I don't remember much at all I'm pretty sure her eyes were blue

There was a time When she hardly crossed my mind No clouded thoughts to make me blind But now those days are through

(chorus) What does it matter if she's gone away What does it matter what I tried to say Why do I stay up all night long To write her all these songs She'll never listen anyway So many questions runnin' through my head While I fall asleep alone in bed So here's another toast to what went wrong And why is the whiskey always gone

An empty glass Drained from the memories of our past Why can't the bottle ever last I'm pretty sure this one was new

Another pour I just need a little more Somebody help me off the floor 'Cause I got nothing left to lose
