

The Beholder

Oh girl, from the moment that I met ya
You know I knew the answer was yes
Sometimes when my life feels ordinary
You smile at me and I must confess

Before you, I cried so many tears
Never knew exactly why
So many footprints that I had to lose
'Til I walked into your life

(chorus)

They say love is blind, I can see that now
In every little thing that you do
Beauty's in the eye of the beholder
And baby, I wanna be holdin' you

Now I've lived like a man out on a mission
I've looked, but never wanted to buy
But now, you know I can't even imagine
What I'd do if you said goodbye

Lord knows, that I've been wrong so many times
You've come and turned that all around
Hold me down 'cause all these butterflies
Are lifting me right off the ground

(repeat chorus)

I never listen to what they say
They won't understand anyway
And baby, who cares what they think
You got me fallin' in your eyes
So baby don't blink

(repeat chorus)

*Written by Frankie Moreno / Tony Moreno
©2020 Luccivanni Publishing – BMI / Featherpen Publishing - BMI
Completed in Las Vegas, NV*