

A Subtle Spring

On a subtle spring
Seems like yesterday
Our two eyes would meet and they would fail to ever stray
We were both so young
Honest and naïve
Never saw the changes that would fall with Autumn leaves

Then a Summers day
Our love was on fire
Every burning dream would seem to fuel every desire
Those warm and tender nights
Two hearts beating fast
Only with the ignorance of hope that it would last

I remember when
Everything seemed new
Every time we kissed the skies appeared to be more blue
Then the nights grew cold
With unexpected snow
And in that very moment I know it was time to go

Winter now has come
The snow it gently falls
It all makes me think back in the wonder of it all
I find warmth near the fire
As we used to do
Each time the seasons change I always think of you

Where did I go wrong
What more could I have done
I would trade all that I've become to feel that sun
Oh, the winds have change
Left only a dream
Of when we first found love
That subtle spring

*Written by Frankie Moreno / Gianna Adams
©2021 Luccivanni Publishing – BMI
Completed in Las Vegas, NV*